COMPROMISE IS REACHED

Interesting Matters In Saturday's Court Record.

After several days of hearing before Judge De Bolt, an amicable settlement of the contest over the Kaaua estate was reached yesterday. The property is $5000 in cash. This is the case in which Malanu, an aged Hawaiian, testified he was born the month and year that the "aloees" arrived, meaning the New England missionaries in 1820 so nicknamed by the old natives. The literal translation of the word is "longnecks," as Interpreter Hopkins explained to the amusement of the court and audience. Under the compromise E. K. Lillikalani is to receive $850 and the three other claimants the balance in equal shares. W. A. Whiting and C. F. Peterson appeared for Lillikalani, Frank Andrade for Peter Ka-haule, J. J. Dunne for Kalaekokei and Atkinson, Judd & Mott-Smith for Mele Hapuku.

THE BOARDMAN ESTATE.

On the report of P. Danson Kellett Jr., master, the final account of Cecil Brown, administrator of the estate of George E. Boardman, deceased, was approved by Judge De Bolt. The receipts were $21,760.05 and payments $21,550.15, leaving a cash balance of $209.90. The appraised value of the estate, real and personal, was $50,393.35. Among the receipts were $10,684.11 life insurance and $8624.90 fire claim. Two of the items of disbursement were $7000 to release a mortgage and $2808.86 to pay notes and I. O. U.s. Legacies paid were $500 each to Addie L. Newton and Mrs. Georgia A. Charitan, cousins, and Morinaga Teune and Hatsuhiro Miyamoto, servants of deceased. Personal property valued at $732.70 had been delivered to Louise K. Dods (formerly Boardman), adopted child of deceased, under the will, all of which excepting jewelry, ornaments and silverware valued at $472.70 are now in possession of Mrs. Dods or her mother by her direction. The will devised a house and lot in Kinau street absolutely to Louise K. Boardman (since Mrs. Dods) and the remainder of the real estate in trust for paying the income thereof to her for life and at her death to be conveyed to her lawfully begotten issue, and in the event of such not surviving the devise the issue of such to take the share of the parent. In the event of the death of Louise K. Boardman without leaving issue or the children of such, the entire trust estate is to go to her heirs general by right of representation. Cecil Brown was appointed administrator, on the nomination of Louise K. Boardman, when W. A. Whiting and S. B. Rose had resigned as executor named in the will.

PARTIAL DISTRIBUTION.

Judge De Bolt signed an order of partial distribution yesterday in the old partition suit of Nettie L. Scott vs. E. K. Pillipo et al. From the funds in court there shall be paid to the various persons entitled thereto the sum of $15 for each of the 355 shares of the Hui Kual Aina and Holualoa I. and II. Another order to pay W. A. Wall, commissioner, his bill of $476 for his services in partition was signed. The money for all this was obtained by a sale of part of the property.

COURT NOTES.

It is stipulated in the case of Samuel Parker vs. Metropolitan Meat Co., Ltd., that defendant have twenty days beyond the statutory time in which to plead, with the understanding that the matter shall not be carried over beyond the next ensuing term of court. Judge Gear yesterday signed a decree of foreclosure and sale in the case of Henry E. Cooper vs. Island Realty Co., Ltd., and Joseph A. Gilman. W. R. Sims is appointed commissioner of sale. Defendants gave notice of appeal from the decree to the Supreme Court. A discontinuance has been filed in the case of Oahu Lumber & Building Co. vs. Yong Kong Hung, defendant, and Lee Wal, garnishee. Judge De Bolt accordingly dismisses the case for want of prosecution. Kalama of Ewa petitions that he be appointed administrator of the estate of his dead wife, Naeole, which is valued at $550.

EXCELSIOR.

Respectfully dedicated by the parodist to the Manoa Golf Club and the Seventh Hole in particular.

The shades of night were falling fast
As o'er Manoa Golf Links passed,
A youth, who swatted at a ball
And sounded loud this cheerful call;
EXCELSIOR.

"Hole No. 7," "the caddy said,
"Way up the hill and overhead."

"Twelve times he lofted
at the wall

"That's easy," said the youth and smiled,
"One good hard drive, and then my child,
EXCELSIOR.

From careful stance he hit the ball
Which banged against the hazard wall.

Yet ne'er a swear word passed his lips
He merely sighed, "confound such slips,"
EXCELSIOR.

"Oh stay," the caddy cried, "and rest
A moment on this bunker's crest.
I long to get back home to sleep
Upon my mattress stuffed with cheap
EXCELSIOR."

"Oh stay," his comrade cried, "and take
A Scotch-and-Soda for my sake."
The youth replied, "I'll share a bowl
With you old chap—after this hole;
EXCELSIOR."

"Try not the steps," the old man said,

Lifeless but on the green he lay

"Night comes apace, rain's overhead."
The youth leaped up the dizzy stair
And answered with a cheerful air,
"EXCELSIOR."

The caddy fled with frightened moan.
The eager youth was left alone
For he had sworn, deep in his soul
That he would make the seventh hole,
EXCELSIOR.

Down came the rain, the thunder pealed,
The fitful lightning's flash revealed
His battling form just dimly seen
Striving to reach that putting green,
EXCELSIOR.

Twelve times he lofted at the wall.
Twelve times the ball did backward fall.
Twelve times quoth he, "that was too low
I ought to hit it thus, not so,
EXCELSIOR."

At midnight his sad family
Came on the links with clamorous cry.
"Oh Willie do not stay all night!"
A voice replied far up the height,
"EXCELSIOR."

There in the morning, cold and gray,
Lifeless, but on the green he lay
His putter in his hand clasped fast,
The ball within the hole at last,
EXCELSIOR.

In glory of his splendid pluck,
In pity of his deadly luck,
The club, emerging from its gloom
Inscribed this word upon his tomb,
EXCELSIOR.

And to perpetuate his fame

They gave the Seventh Hole a name.
The voting proved unanimous
And players now all read it thus—
EXCELSIOR.

LIFE BELT WITH A MASK.

A German inventor, working on the theory that most persons who are drowned are really overcome by waves which cannot be kept from dashing into the face of the victim, has invented a mask to be worn in connection with a life preserver, and this he thinks will be the means of saving many lives. It is provided with valves, which will not permit of the entrance of water, but which respond easily to suction, so that the breathing of the wearer is not interfered with.—Philadelphia Record.
